

HEALTHY FOOD HEALTHY PLANET

A movement demanding healthy, just and sustainable food environments, starting with rebalancing animal sourced foods in Europe

Weaving together a new HFHP website! Invitation to share your photos

An emerging Pan-European movement uniting civil society organisations (CSOs) and funders by a shared vision: healthy, just and sustainable food environments. We started in 2020, based on a sense of urgency that Europe's excessive animal-sourced food consumption is harming people and our planet and hence needs to change. In 2021, we co-created with over 150 different voices a HFHP Strategic Framework, embracing a more regenerative, healthy and equitable approach to food environments. In 2022, a small Coordination Team (made up thus far of a Director/ Chief Weaver serving the CSO Movement, a Fund Manager to manage the Pooled Fund, and part-time Co-Creation Lead and Research/Writer) started with the ambitious task to weave to 'life' the framework.

For an emerging movement that is still trying to find its feet (or rather planting its seeds), we are building our DNA and shared identity as we go along. Uplifting and amplifying the efforts of our members obviously form the heart of that DNA!

In the coming months, we will be building a new website inspired by the HFHP Strategic Framework and ways of working together -to be further refined during a Bike of Bees Caravan scheduled for the first week of September (watch this space!). We would like the new website as well as newsletters and social media to celebrate and feature your work from across Europe!

The photos...

We are inviting you to share your high quality original photos of food environments, representing the 'good, bad and ugly' in food environments with 'good' being the predominant force. This is because we are building a hope-based narrative, or a world we do want to see and work towards. The photos may feature different people -with their consent- in a variety of 'good' settings, ranging from markets, (animal, nature and/or vegetable) farms that are trying to do things differently (e.g. agroecology), shops where plant-based and locally and sustainably sourced options are on offer, etc. Please note that we do see a future for animal-sourced foods, but a 'less and better' transformation is needed (and are still brainstorming what that may look like). If you want to find out more about food environments are please refer to <https://epha.org/what-are-food-environments/>

The photos need to include short and powerful captions in either English, French, Spanish, Dutch, German or Italian, also to enable online accessibility requirements.

While we will obviously credit your work, it is important to note that we adhere to a Creative Commons Licence type Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International This means that the photos cannot be subject to strict copyright and that you have the right to share them with HFHP.

We will pay the organisation a small fee of Euro 100 per photo that is selected.

Please submit them to info@healthyfoodandplanet.org until the 30th of June.
